THE ABC'S OF CENTENARY

A

ALTHEA

Althea is a campus fixture as permanent as Jackson Hall, but she is not made of concrete and steel - Althea is a brown, black and white spotted mutt who strolls the campus grounds meeting people, investigating oddities, and occasionally attending classes. A few students think Althea is a snob, but the majority appreciate the warmth and fur which remind them of their pet back home. Much of Althea's life is a mystery, but she has seen Centenary students come and go, and will probably continue to do so for many years.

ATHLETICS

Centenary's Athletic Department is quite an achievement for such a small school. The program includes Varsity Baseball, Soccer, Golf, Gymnastics, Men's and Women's Basketball, Tennis, and Cross Country. The Golf team went to the NCAA Tournament in California last spring, and the Gymnastics team captured the championship in Division II for the fourth consecutive time. Every year the All-American Athletes are honored with a luncheon attended by students, faculty, and interested public. The student body is proud of the athletic department and our outstanding athletes.

B

BELLS

Centenary' bells are not exactly world-reknowned, but they are a nice addition to the college. They remind you that you're late to class though, and alot of neighboring houses complain about the noise, so now they only ring during the day. One sunny spring day when you're walking peacefully across campus, and the bells ring, reflect upon what a collegiate atmosphere they create. Too bad it is really only a tape.

BOARD OF TRUSTEES

The Board of Trustees functions as a protectorate for the school. Members make up a cross-section of the Shreveport/Bossier community and surrounding areas. Chairman George D. Nelson heads the board in reviewing and implementing administrative, academic, and financial matters of the school. The Board members are generous and involved with the school, and the college appreciates their time and help.

BOOKSTORE

Nestled in the bottom of the SUB, the bookstore is the only place where you can buy your textbooks, but they usually run out before you get one, or it is midterm when your books arrives. Besides textbooks, the bookstore carries greeting cards, school supplies, magazines, and clothing with assorted Centenary emblems. It is the closest place to cash a check, but it costs you a dime.

BUSINESS OFFICE

The business office is a source of unrelenting frustration for most students. Somehow they always manage to bill you for lab fees when you're not taking a science course, or parking tickets when you don't own a car. Our business office sends bills for one cent while hundred dollar checks are misplaced, and just to torment graduating seniors, a policy of checking with the business office for outstanding debts must be followed before you get your diploma.

CAF

The caf is the social center for our campus - never mind the food. Aside from the socializing and the ice cream, the cafeteria offers little. The food lacks variety; insolent workers battle head-to-head with equally insolent students; and you never know when you'll have to eat off a paper plate with a plastic fork and knife. It is a place to eye members of the opposite sex, scope out a date for the next big party, catch up on the latest gossip, and enjoy good company.

-hathor

CHOIR

The Centenary College Choir has been a part of the school for forty-one years. The choir performs several concerts during the year, including Rhapsody in View, various ensembles, and Elizabethan Dinners. This past year the Choir toured Germany, Belgium, the Netherlands, Switzerland, France, and Great Britian. Though many of the faculty do not consider the time missed from class very beneficial, the choir performs an important recruiting function for the college at concerts in high schools around the Ark-La-Tex.

CLASSES

Classes are those annoying time slots which interrupt your sleep in the morning and your sun time in the afternoon. At Centenary class attendance policies are set by the individual teachers; unfortunately for students, they are usually exactly that - set. As inconvenient as it may be, class attendance is usually a big factor in the grade of a course - but even the best students occasionally skip when the sun comes out after a long rain, or Friday afternoon parties are scheduled, or weekend road trips last until Tuesday, or . .

CONGLOMERATE

The Centenary Conglomerate can be entertaining, informative and unbiased. It can also be boring, unreliable, and quite opinionated. Like any other media, the newspaper is subject to harsh criticism, no matter how hard the staff works. Putting out a newspaper each week is difficult to do. It takes research, photographs, articles, editorials, advertisments, and mostly time that seems to slip away when Wednesday comes. The staff rushes over to the Bossier Tribune, lays out the copy, and prints it. Every Thursday, neat stacks of Conglomerates are delivered around campus, and no matter how critical some students are, it seems like everybody reads it.

CULTURAL PERSPECTIVES

When you are a freshman, you're subjected to all sorts of inconveniences that you don't have to endure as an upperclassman. Cultural Perspectives is one of these. CP requires attendance of ten cultural events such as recitals, plays, convocations, and art exhibits. Two things make Cultural Perspectives particularly inconvenient: 1) the fact that you have to go, and 2) the fact that if you do not attend five of these events by midterm, your parents call in a rage demanding to know why you have an F in this class. It doesn't do any good to try to explain that because you didn't run over to the art museum one afternoon, you received the grade. It also doesn' $\dagger$ do any good to try to explain that once you do this you will have a passing grade. Instead, you have to listen to your parents tell you to study more in this class, and in the meantime, your allowance is cut.

D

DORM LIFE

Living in the dorm is a test of compatibility and tolerance. The nice things about the dorm are the fact that there is always someone to talk to, no required cleaning, and it is cheap with maintainence and utilities included. The bad things about the dorm are the noise, the lack of privacy, fire drills after midnight, and the fact that a meal ticket is required. More problems concerning room assignments drift into the Dean of Students office than anything else, and living with someone whose habits are not like yours make you appreciate your room at home.

Alcohol has earned a prominent place in the guidebook, because it has earned a prominent place in the boodstreams of many students. Almost everyone has experienced that drunken feeling of euphoria and that sunken feeling of a hangover. Every weekend some fraternity or sorority has a party, and another silver keg floats down fraternity row. Though alcohol is not permitted on campus, occasionally a beer or two can be found in a dorm room refrigerator - nothing to worry about though, they disappear quickly.

E  ,

ELECTIONS

Elections are announced in the Conglomerate a few weeks before the day of voting. If anyone is interested, he petitions to the SGA and floods the campus with posters announcing his candidacy. Election day comes and voices fill the air - "What are we voting for today?" "Why is there always just one candidate?" "Why bother to vote?" (Our student body has never taken an overwhelming interest in politics.) Because of apathy, we're stuck with what we get, and unless you can say, "Well, I certainly didn' $\dagger$ vote for him," don't complain.

F

FOREIGN STUDENTS

Ready to try to handle the English language and American cultural differences, these students leave their homeland and travel to Shreveport, Louisiana. The English language barrier does not prevent them from scoring high GPAs or becoming an active part of the Centenary campus.

G

Grades come out two to four times a year, depending on whether you take interim and summer school. They are what you've worked for all semester, but likely as not, they are not as high as you had hoped. A week after final grades are due, that little square carbon garde report arrives in your mailbox, you rush inside, "Grasp and Pull", and see what the labors of the semester have wrought.

GRADES

FRESHMAN ENGLISH

A year of intensive grammar, composition, and class attendance is required for graduation. Freshman English has been the downfall of more than one or two students, and people who have always made As in English suddenly find themselves looking at a pink slip. Our English department is tough and has a more stringent grading scale than most other departments because the professors believe that English is the foundation for the rest of a college career. Most students soon discover, however, that the basis for their grade is writing in the style of the teacher.

GRADUATION

The commencement exercises held in May represent a passing from Centenary into the real world. Students have prepared for this moment and equipped themselves with a college education in order to establish a satisfactory life. The Gold Dome is decorated in a formal maroon, the faculty and administration march in their parade dress, and the seniors approach their chairs in caps and gowns. Parents sigh and reflect on how much older their child has grown. Diplomas are presented, the recessional begins, and amidst the pomp and circumstance a mixture of relief and sadness emerges for the end of four years of college.

GREEKS

Centenary has four fraternities, Kappa Alpha, Kappa Sigma, Tau Kappa Epsilon, and Theta Chi; and three sororities, Chi Omega, Zeta Tau Alpha, and Zeta Phi Beta. The Greek system serves many functions on campus. The system forms cohesive groups of people with similar interests. Becoming a Greek offers a chance to make friends and meet people. It also offers an endless source of parties. Fraternities and sororities also serve an often overlooked function in serving as an incentive to make good grades. Another advantage of Centenary's size is that one does not have to join a fraternity or sorority to find good friends. Friendship crosses barriers here, and being a Greek or not being a Greek does not limit a person's behavior toward others.

H

HIGH SCHOOL WEEKEND

High School Weekend, held each spring, is a great opportunity for high school students to visit the college and get to know what goes on at Centenary. The high school students stay in dorm rooms and participate in such activities as church services, rappelling, talent shows, Hardin games, open house parties given by the fraternities, and exhibitions presented by various organizations on campus. Everyone goes out of their way to make the guests feel comfortable and see the best side of Centenary.

HOMECOMING

Centenary's Homecoming was held on December 5th, and the Gents lost an exciting game to Louisiana Tech. 62-63. The festivities included open house at the fraternity and sorority houses, an Alumni Luncheon, and a dance held in Haynes. Cindy Lee was crowned Homecoming Queen from a court of girls chosen by the student body. Elaine Mayo was First Maid, and Elberta McKnight was Second Maid. Other girls chosen to be in the court were Cathy Amsler, Missy Moore, Carole Powell, and last year's queen, Libby Taylor.

HONOR CODE

The Honor Code is Centenary's institutional reminder that students are indeed adults and have certain responsibilities. The pledge which one can barely scrawl at the end of a fifteen page essay test is a sign of respect for higher learning as well as higher morals. The atmosphere of trust rather than the threat of punishment creates self-enforcement.

I

INTERIM

Interim is the three week period following Christmas vacation. Its original purpose was to allow the students to take a culturally enriching course Pass/Fail so that students would be exposed to a course in college that could be fun and still broaden horizons. Cultural Perspectives now fills this purpose, and Interim has been caught in a cross-current of feelings embodied in its original purpose versus feelings which question the worth of three hours of easy credit. For the students who take trips, it is still alot of fun and a nice way to see more of the world than Shreveport. For the students who stay on campus, it is a chance to relax and have some peace and quiet. This year Shreveport got five inches of snow, so classes were cancelled, and residents got to play in the snow.

INTRAMURALS

Centenary's Intramural program includes football, basketball, softball, cross country, volleyball, pool, ping pong, golf and tennis. Fraternities battle for the sweepstakes trophy, and independents form teams to try to outdo the Greeks. Intramural football tends to draw more spectators than the other sports, and this year's championship game where the Sun Devils defeated Kappa Sigma I turned out to be an exciting game.

K

KSCL

Our campus radio station is located on the second floor of the SUB. The interior is painted blue and silver and is decorated with various posters and notices. Station Manager Jaxon Baker and Program Director Guy Cassingham have worked hard on the station. It has expanded to 150 watts and has cut back to eight hours of broadcasting time a day. Since it is a "progressive" radio station and the disc jockeys mostly play acid rock from the early 70's, most students consider it "regessive" and flip to another station.

L

LANDSCAPING

Centenary has one of the prettiest campuses in the nation. The grounds are covered with beautiful gardens, towering trees and impressive azaleas and roses. The school's new sign located on the corner of Kings Highway and Centenary Boulevard is dedicated to Mr. and Mrs. Harry Balcom, and they have taken quite an interest in seeing that our landscaping continues in a similar manner. Most students feel lucky to have the peaceful, beautiful campus, especially in the spring when Crumley Gardens burst into a symphony of red, pink and white azaleas.

LIBRARY

Magale Library is located on the east side of campus and faces Woodlawn Avenue. It houses around 130,000 books, a music listening room, a lounge area among the magazine racks, and study rooms on the second floor. The library is a nice place to study and visit with people. The only time it is really crowded is during exam week and a week before Freshman English research papers are due.

M MAIL

Mail is one of the few contacts from the outside world. Students check their mailbox diligently for the sight of the diagonal edge of an envelope, a magazine, or even junk mail. If you receive a letter, it makes your whole day, reminding you of your family, friends, and boy- or girlfriend back home. Though our mail service may not be the best, we at least have twice a day delivery and mailboxes in our dorms.

MARDI GRAS

Even though Mardi Gras is not an officially scheduled holiday, Bacchus, Rex, Comus and Endymnion call a number of students to New Orleans for the gala celebration. This year the Senate worked hard to convince the faculty that this Louisiana tradition should be included in the school calendar. The festivities, the parades, the people and the carefree atmosphere are an experience to be treasured.

MONEY

This topic may not be known to most students, because they never seem to have any. If you happen to be lucky enough to have some, it always manages to disappear a week after you got it. Then it is time for that ominous phone call that all parents dread (collect, of course) - "Hi Mom and Dad! How's everything at home? I'm doing okay: classes aren't giving me too much trouble, and of course the soup at the mission is free ... Do need money? Well, now that you mention it

NUMBERS

Among Centenary's Admissions Department's strategies for recruiting new students is a spiel about the differences between our small college and big universities "At Centenary, you're more than just a number." Then at registration, the new student finds himself thinking, "At Centenary, you're more than just a number, you're ten numbers. You're an ID number, a meal ticket number, a phone number, a STAN number, a room number, a parking lot number, ... "But numbers stop when it comes to the closeness of students on campus. After a while you realize that Dick Anders knows your name and not your ID number.

OFF-CAMPUS STUDENTS

Students from the Shreveport/Bossier area comprise over half of the enrollment of Centenary. They drive to school, go to class, and drive home. They usually never quite get around to the social centers of campus - the caf and the dorms. These mysterious creatures can be seen only at registration where on-campus students with puzzled looks think, "Who are all these people?"

P

PARKING

Centenary's parking lots range from perfectly smooth cement in front of James and by the Smith Building to muddy expanses filled with potholes on the far edge of campus. Even though there never seem to be as many spaces as cars, and the security guards are quick to issue tickets for parking in the wrong lot, the convenience of having a car makes all the parking problems seem small.

PARTIES

Parties on the weekends make the weekdays worth it. The fall semester is sprinkled with KA Jungle Party, TKE Graveyard Party, Sig Pajama Party, Theta Chi Mafia, ChiO Barnyard, Zeta Swamp Party, and Fall Ball. The spring semester has the formals which usually involve parties, pre-parties, pre-pre-parties for days ahead of time. Everyone has their favorite parties to go to, and everyone loves to go to parties. First a day is announced for the party, then everyone suffers the indecision of who to ask and what to wear. Finally the night itself rolls around, excitement fills the air, the sun goes down, the music goes up, and the occasion has arrived.

PLAYS

Centenary's Theater Department produces two plays each semester. The Playhouse is usually a flurry of activity - building sets, rehearsing scripts, working on costumes, and planning programs. Opening night comes, the play is presented, and then the cast awaits reviews. This fall Madame de Sade and Medea were produced. During Interim, a musical production, An Evening With Lerner and Lowe, was staged.

REGISTRATION

Registration is held at the beginning of each semester, and students, faculty, and administration all agree that it is not a pleasant way to start the year. You stand in five or six different lines, and then when you finally have to write a check for some huge amount of money, you feel nothing but frustration. How can it cost so much money? Pre-registration cuts down on the time involved, and the trauma wears off after a few days.

REVEL

The Red River Revel is Shreveport's celebration of the arts. The riverfront is decorated by booths, signs, and stages. The Revel is characterized by delicious food, beautiful crafts, colorful paintings, and interesting demonstrations. This year's Revel included a hot air balloon race: downtown was lit up with colorful cloudlike balloons. The Revel is a celebration which should not be missed.

RUSH

Rush is a week of madness which takes place at the beginning of the fall semester. Freshman girls and guys and any other students interested in becoming a Greek are swept through a week of fraternity or sorority ideology and history, socializing with total strangers, and finally, pledging. Whether or not you pledge, you've had a chance to meet a large number of Centenary students. On Sunday the guys wear their new jerseys and the girls run down the hill; the madness has ended, and each new member now has a house off campus, new friends, and a table in the caf.

S  SECURITY

Since Dick Anders became Dean of Students, security has been tighter on campus. Hardin Dorm has a 24 -hour lock on the doors; Cline Dorm has two locked doors facing Kings Highway. It is still questionable whether thefts have decreased, but he has created a protected and isolated campus that leaves students less prepared for the real world.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT

Our fearless leaders meet each Tuesday in the Student Senate on the second floor of the SUB. Elected by the student body, officers and senators plan such projects as forum speakers, campus entertainment, and blood drives. Their most important job is deciding how to divide the money received from student fees. Though earthshaking decisions are not usually handled by the SGA, what goes on in their meetings does affect the lives of Centenary students.

SUB

The Moore Student Center, located at the center of campus, houses the post office, bookstore, coffeehouse, the media, the Student Senate, and a game room recently titled "The Gentlemen's Quarters." One of the SGA's pet projects is to improve the SUB through renovation and increasing facilities available to students. Although the SUB is not exactly the center of student activity, it is a nice place to kill a few hours between classes. The coffeehouse has a wide screen TV and all sorts of electronic games, pool and ping pong tables are available.

V

VISITATION

Visitation is a fancy word for taking a member of the opposite sex into your dorm room. This may be done only at certain hours and according to certain rules. Even though complaints are loudly voiced about procedures and hours, visitation is the administration's mixed-up, medieval way of trying to protect the girls. It is also important to remember that visitation is a privilege which may be revoked if the rules are bent a little too far.

Ah, that marvelous mechanical device that offers escape, escape, escape! How much enjoyment is offered by General Hospital when you have a test that night cannot be explained. This spring the dorm televisions were connected to cable, so lobby attendance has increased. The school is not trying to advocate incessant television watching or lobby leeching, it is merely trying to offer the students some of the conveniences they might have with an apartment off campus.

W

WOODROW WILSON FELLOWS

Centenary participates in the Woodrow Wilson Visiting Fellows Program, a program which brings lecturers to campus. They meet people, socialize with students and faculty, and host informal discussion sessions with classes. Outstanding diplomats, journalists, corporate executives, and politicians have visited Centenary. This fall Edward $P$. Morgan, a distinguished news commentator, was our twentieth Woodrow Wilson fellow.

Y

YONCOPIIY

The Centenary yearbook arrives in nicely bound $9 \times 12$ covers each May. The students review it, critique it, and enjoy the parts they like. The difference between the yearbook and the other media, i.e., the radio station and the newspaper, is that it is a one shot affair; if it comes out bad, you have to wait until the next year for another one. One good thing about the yearbook is that it lasts; after you leave, you take the book along as a reminder of what your fellow students look like. This year's staff has worked hard to produce a quality yearbook, and we would like to thank Janie Flournoy for her time and help.

Z ZOO

Students often feel that the Centenary campus transforms itself into a zoo at certain times of the year - the end of exam week, the beginning of exam week, right around midterm, the Sunday after rush, when everyone gets back from Christmas and almost any given time during any given semester. Crazy actions, loud music, temper tantrums, and late night cries of agony become a way to ease the pressures of being a student. Amidst this confusion exists a bond of friendship and cooperation that helps you through the day. And when you reflect on your college career, it will be the crazy times that you'll remember.

IN MEMORY OF PAUL M. BROWN

Centenary alumnus; founder of the Brown Chair of English; President's Scholarship donor; a loving husband, father and grandfather; Paul Marvin Brown will long be remembered and revered on Centenary's campus. May he rest in peace.
